NOTE FOR: Director of Personnel

Two observations on [ ] note on the buckslip. On the instant case of Mr. [ ] let's go ahead, revise the letter, and make reference to his absences at home because of necessitous official duties. Going to the major point, however, I told Ben verbally that there already is a screening mechanism which appears to be sufficient for the Director; and secondly, it is my opinion that if we followed his suggestion, the thing would become so decentralized and would become such an administrative burden that we would never get anything accomplished.

What is your reaction?
